

The no call list is the best thing that could happen in this state (the way it is). Absent getting an unlisted phone number I can't restrict these phone calls. Other family members work nights and they constantly complain about being woke up to no one on the other line or someone trying to sell them something they don't want. I even purchased a cell phone so I could get phone calls from those I wanted to get them from and not be constantly disturbed.

Don't change the current do not call list. If anything it should be strengthened.
